Immediately Improve Your Short Game with the Patent-Pending Perfect Putting Aid™

Designed by PGA Golf Professional Chad Johansen

BRISTOL, Ill. -- PGA Golf Professional Chad Johansen has invented The Perfect Putting Aid™, a unique tool designed to assist golfers with their putting stroke and that can immediately help improve a golfer's score.

The Perfect Putting Aid has three parts: The Tower, The Line, and The Mirror. When assembled, the golfer is able to monitor head placement, shoulder and eye alignment, and putting stroke path. “This unique tool helps golfers perfect whatever putting stroke they prefer: straight back, straight through or arc” said Johansen. The Perfect Putting Aid is portable and can be easily set up in the living room, office, backyard, or practice green. As a PGA Golf Professional, Johansen knows the critical role practice plays in consistency.

“Whether you are a beginning golfer, an advanced golfer or someone in between, The Perfect Putting Aid can immediately help you improve your short game,” said Johansen.

The Perfect Putting Aid is used by several PGA Tour players, PGA teaching professionals, college coaches and players. “The Perfect Putting Aid is now a standard accessory used in my golf clinics, academies and lessons,” said Joe Bosco, owner and co-founder of GreenToTee® Golf Academy of High Performance Golf. “My students are impressed with the quality feedback but more importantly, how it shows them the proper putting stroke path to the hole.”

“The Perfect Putting Aid has not only helped my students, but it has improved my putting as well,” said Rich Dukelow, three-time Illinois PGA Assistant Player of the Year. “I highly recommend this for any golfer who wants to improve their score.”

Tourbound Golf Academy professional instructor Scot Nei uses The Perfect Putting Aid with the tour players he teaches. “We have included The Perfect Putting Aid in our training for the past several months and our customers like the fact that they can see their head and shoulder position as well as the ball-to-hole alignment,” Nei said. “This tool can provide any golfer the stroke consistency that they need on the putting greens.”

The Perfect Putting Aid is available online and via telephone orders. To place an order or to view pricing, demonstration videos and assembly instructions, please visit www.theperfectputtingaid.com.
